

MORNING APPEAL.

TUESDAY, MARCH 2, 1880

A HEARTLESS MILLIONAIRE.—It is now given out that unless the Mechanics' and Miners' Unions allow D. O. Mills to employ Chinamen in building the Bodie road the work will never be begun. They propose to have things their way or not have them at all. They imagine that their threat not to build the road will induce the Unions to yield a point in favor of serf labor. It is a great mistake for them to suppose for a moment that the Unions will ever yield an inch. Mills showed his weakness in sending Yerington to ask permission of the Unions to employ Chinamen. The Unions have refused to give their consent. What does Mills now propose to do about it? The following from the Stockton Mail states the case exactly:

D. O. Mills, the California millionaire, is about to commence a railroad, from a point on his Virginia & Truckee road, to Bodie. The road will be a big piece of work. There are 2,000 miners, composed of the best laboring material in the world out of employment in Virginia City, and willing to accept small wages. Mr. Mills has openly announced his intention of employing Chinese labor, and there are only three papers in the whole State of Nevada that have courage enough and independence enough to speak in condemnatory terms of Mr. Mills' resolution. These papers are the Virginia Chronicle, the Carson Appeal and the Lyon County Times. All the other papers grovel at the feet of the millionaire who thus brings a horde of Chinese into a State, rather than give employment to his starving fellow-countrymen. Mills has been very rich for years; within the past few months he has added several millions to his wealth by speculations in the New York stock market; but he would rather see white men and their families die of hunger and cold than loosen the strings of his bursting purse for a moment. These are the sort of men whose influence on the destinies of a republic may well be feared. Cold and selfish, they are devoid of patriotism and are as heartless as a stone. The mercy they show to others should be shown to them. Were Kearney to threaten to hang a man who should deliberately act as Mr. Mills says he will act, we should probably have nothing to say in protest. There are certain crimes against humanity that call aloud for punishment at the hands of the community, even though the law is silent concerning them.

A FREE AND EASY LOCALITY.—We are informed by telegraph that the Winter Palace of the Czar is about the most accessible place in the kingdom. It is the regular resort for thieves, tramps and vagabonds of all descriptions, who lie around throughout the year to the number of several thousand. Their excuse for such familiarity with the Czar's favorite residence, is that they have no other place to sleep. Most of them eat there also, and some have hung about the place so long that the Czar can hardly tell half of them from his royal household. Such hard cheek as this would astonish the people of America where such liberties are not allowed. If the feed falls a little below the standard, and the flap-jacks for breakfast are a little cold, the outraged parasites blow the head of the house up with four tons of dynamite. The Czar escapes, and a few minutes afterward the man who touches off the mine rings in on the family prayers and then asks the old fellow for a chew of navy twist while congratulating him on his escape. For a free and easy place, Russia takes the palm.

JOHN NEVINS was a fireman on the Hart and Osceola Railroad in Michigan. A log was chained to the track one night, and his locomotive was wrecked, killing him instantly. His widow sued the company for $5,000 damages. While the suit was pending, a good looking young fellow made her acquaintance, professed to fall in love with her, and made a marriage engagement. Having confidence in him, Mrs. Nevins told him that the log was placed on the track at her request, she desiring to get rid of her husband, while they were to have all the money that could be gained by a lawsuit. The wooer induced her to repeat the story in the hearing of concealed witnesses, and then had her arrested. He was a detective in the company's employ.

The ages of the prominent candidates for the Presidency are as follows: Grant will be fifty-eight next April; Blaine was fifty last January; Washburn was sixty-three in September; Sherman will be fifty-eight in May; Cookling was fifty in October; Garfield is in his forty-ninth year; Bayard is fifty-one; Hendricks was sixty in September; Thurman was sixty-six in October; Tilden will be sixty-six this month; Hancock is fifty-five; Seymour will be seventy next May. In Europe the principal rulers and military generals have passed their seventieth year.

CHICAGO men have bought a fourth interest in the Credit Mobilier mine, in Paradise District. This mine is situated about 15 miles from Golconda, and about 22 miles from Winnemucca, in the range which separates Paradise valley from the valley of the Humboldt.

EVERYTHING is now quiet in San Francisco and the men who derive a good income, "cutting buildings in the Chinese quarter to gamblers, lepers and prostitutes, feel better.

Wendell Phillips says that the man who dreams of Grant aspiring to be a dictator would have awakened Noah with the cry of "Fire!"

Salt Lake, March 1.—A snow-slide occurred in Logan Canyon, twenty-five miles from Logan City which buried six men and several teams. Four of the men were got out, but the latest reports say two men and three teams are still buried in the snow. Twenty-five men left Logan on Friday night at 11 o'clock to dig for the unfortunate ones, and thirty more left for the same purpose on Saturday. The names of those buried are not known.

An engineer on the C. P. R. R. discovered some object on the track between Palisade and Carlin, and whistling down brakes the object was found to be a squaw in a dying condition. She was picked up, put on the train and taken to Carlin. How she came on the track, or the cause of her condition, was not learned.

Miners' wages in Utah run from $2 50 to $3 50. A small number of Mormons work in the mines. The church discourages it. Laborers on the surface, at mills, furnaces, etc., receive from $1 50 to $1 75.

In Idaho, 28 bars of silver bullion, worth $28,000, were nearly two weeks in being drawn on hand sleds to Boise City. It took eight men three days to convey it a distance of only eight miles.

Judge Flack, of Elko, being unable on account of physical disabilities to preside on the bench, at the present term of Court, Judge Rives of Eureka has consented to act for him.

DR. TOLAND, one of the best known physicians on the coast was buried in San Francisco yesterday. He was the founder of the Toland Medical College.

It is reported that the Great Eastern Quicksilver mine has sent East for 150 negroes.
